Conference

Plenary session: The economic model of humanitarian action: what are the results 50 years later?

The model of independent NGOs and the principle of interference were born 50 years ago, with the creation of Doctors without Borders.

Professionalization, specialization: over the years, the functioning of NGOs has become more complex and a whole institutional eco-system has been structured. In a context of increasing humanitarian needs and decreasing funding, the economic model now impacts the efficiency of humanitarian action and the respect of humanitarian principles. Let's decipher and debate this complex subject.

10.45am – 3.45pm
Doctoral Workshop

Gender-Based Violence, health issue
in the international solidarity sector

This doctoral workshop aims to bring together the world of research and NGOs on a complex subject for both actors: Gender-Based Violence. Like society as a whole, the International Solidarity sector is not exempt from this sexist and sexual violence. As a result, a double challenge arises: how to prevent and respond to this Gender Based Violence within the NGOs themselves, but also in the field.

Doctoral students will present their theses on these subjects to professionals of the sector to discuss together the interventions of tomorrow.
